This course will provide dental assistant students with the fundamental principles upon which dental radiology is based. The course will cover basic radiation health and safety, an introduction to dental radiography and equipment, and the production and evaluation of dental radiographs.

Topics include:
* Understanding dental radiation
* Process radiographic film
* Identify and correct errors
* Expose and evaluate radiographs
* Mount and label radiographs
* Apply infection control techniques

Course content will focus on preparing the student to sit for the "Radiation Health & Safety" (RHS) portion of the Dental Assisting National Board (DANB) Certification as required by law in the state of Connecticut in order to expose radiographs in a dental setting. The DANB RHS Exam is administered by computer only at PROMETRICS Testing Centers.

* Clinical needs to be completed within four months of program completion.
